EDITORIAL

POLICE AND FIREMEN

The protective custody of the Center in the matter of policing and firefighting is vested in two well-organized bodies of men.

Starting from scratch, both of these departments have trained mentally and physically from the early part of relocation life, and now they have acquired the efficiency and routine capable of handling any outbreaks of violence or conflagrations.

It is logical to assume that the security that we have enjoyed until the present can be largely attributed to the zeal of these men who have shouldered as their responsibilities, the safety of the residents.

Yet, in some instances, a few misadventurers have heedlessly burdened the work of these groups.

There have been cases of false alarm fires which have sent the firetrucks racing through the Center on needless trips. There have been times when private parties have been "crashed." There have been instances of potty theft and other infractions of police regulations.

Despite all this, the well-being of the community has been better assured by the alert and over-ready response of the police and fire departments to any emergency calls.

In consideration of their work, it remains for the other residents of the Rohwer center to be more considerate in their actions and careful in doing anything which may nullify their work.

This Center's perfect record in orderly living must not be marred nor should the achievements of the two departments be forgotten by the Center.

Until the third quarter when the Mirror Twins were ejected from the game on fouls the game was very close, but upon their departure the Gaels literally poured it on and

ROHWER ALL-STARS SHUTOUT HIGH SCHOOL VARSITY 7-0

In the Center's initial hardball game, the Rohwer All-Stars lambasted the high school varsity, 7-0. The All-Stars blasted the offerings of two high school pitchers for 11 hits, one for a long homer into rightfield by first baseman Frank "Mazra" Horita.

For two frames apiece, Hal Nitta and "Wild Bill" Kagawa held the prep team hitless, until Kaz Ito went

GENGU MIYAHARA AND HIRATA STUN AVALANCHES

Bungling a sure 15-4 first quarter lead that looked safer than four aces, the Lodi Golden Avalanches were eliminated from the championship picture Saturday by a fighting Los Angeles Royal Dukes, 41-36, at the high school field.

It was gangling Gengu Miyahara, the Topaz Topper, and Ken Hirata, who pulled the slow starting Dukes out of the "hell hole" in the second and third quarters by staging a two-man scoring riot that rocked the Tokay City hoops into delirium from which they never fully recovered.

MATSUI STOPS KAGAWA FOR SUMO TITLE

Nineteen-year-old Vic Matsui, Santa Anita's best, was heralded as the Center's sumo champion in the second tournament held Sunday afternoon on the dust swept arena at the grammar school field, as he tossed George Kagawa of Lodi, two out of three falls, in the thrilling final.

After falling victim to Kagawa's special, the "ko-shi-nage," Matsui came back strong to take the last two falls to capture the gold loving-cup, the winner's award.

The tournament was witnessed by 2000 fans, who jammed the arena.

into the game in the fifth inning whereupon he was tapped for two sharp singles for the only hits they were able to get. The last three frames saw Ted "Smiles" Kemibayashi again holding the preps hitless.

For the high school nine the game was more of a test game to find their real faults and get the feel of the game. Joe Noma and

All along it was Miyahara and then Hirata as they punctured the basket in rapid fashion on simple sucker shots and tip-ins. The two scorers piled 24 points between them in the second and third quarters to lead one of the most sensational rallies seen on the local court.

Bewildered and confused and trailing by 36-22 at the start of the final quarter, Lodi made a game bid for victory but failed 5 points of knotting the count. The brief scoring flurry saw dead-eye Ich Horimoto skin the net for 4 thirty-five footers of the seven field goals made.
